

„May all good and beautiful, pure and sweet-smelling things be brought to you.
Bread and pastries, beer and wine, meat and poultry shall be set out for you.
May it be foretold to you that no misfortune will occur and that your enemies will have no existence.“

From the inscriptions on the coffin ensemble of an anonymous woman, Western Thebes, c. 1000 BC.
(Now in the Historisches Museum Bern)

The SCP team wishes you a relaxed end of the year, a joyful festive season and a happy, peaceful New Year. May Maat be with you!

